

WARDEN OF THE WAR MEMORIAL ANNUAL REPORT 2018

The structure remains in good order with no damage or deterioration to report. However the Memorial is not without the usual algae, weather staining and bird lime, and has generally greyed somewhat since the professional cleaning in 2014.

The Council requested estimates to consider re-cleaning the Stone to coincide with the November Centenary of the Armistice of the Great War in November 2018.

On seeking professional advice from both the War Memorials Trust and the local Conservation Planning Office, it was advised against such work being carried out so soon after the last professional cleaning. The Council decided on both cost and future maintenance of the Memorial reasons not to proceed with the cleaning.

Andrew Waite
War Memorial Warden